Valuation

Krista F. Holt has extensive experience providing valuation services in both litigation and non-litigation contexts. Outside the world of litigation, Ms. Holt performs valuations of privately-held companies and individual business units, building a comprehensive picture of company finances, ownership history, tangible and intangible property holdings, market position and future prospects to paint a complete picture of current and potential future value. In addition, she applies her extensive experience in intellectual property matters to value portfolios of patents, trademarks and other intangible assets. Her analyses follow standard and accepted valuation approaches, including assessments of appraisal values, development of discounted cash flow models, assessments of risk, identification of industry trends, benchmarking comparable transactions, and discounting for marketability and ownership control.
